LUCAS RITA

For some time now the LUCAS RITA Ignition Kit has been unavailable as a new product, and any spares or back up being very difficult. The one time, synonymous with the product, Mistral Engineering, has finally ceased trading.

An up dated product also to be launched by Mistral, MOIRA has also fallen by the wayside with regarding future manufacture. Although there is a few units being used.

A O Services have for 10 years been offering a test/repair service for the AB11 amplifier only. Now A O Services have procured the last of the spares for these units. Pickups, Pickup Covers and some Reluctors are now available. As parts are many and varied the best thing is to ring/email me with your requirements and we will search out what we can.

If you have a RITA with a problem can I ask you to check out the www.aoservices.co.uk web site. On the home page is an Information and Advice Icon which will lead you to FAQ details with specifics for the RITA (and other electrical problems). If that fails to get it working please phone.

Al Osborn.
